3. Lost in the Museum

[Perdido en el museo]

Alice, Lisa, Martin, and Dad went on holiday in New York City. They were all very happy and excited because they went to a famous museum called the Metropolitan Museum of Art (The MET). Alice loved all of the ancient jewellery. Lisa liked the classic artifacts, Martin saw the interesting sculptures, and Dad looked at the ancient coins. The family spent one whole day visiting the museum because there were so many interesting things to see.

When they arrived at the museum, no one could believe what they saw. It was so cool!

Dad: Look at all of these ancient artifacts. How old is this coin? Is it over 400 years old?

Guide: The coin is more than two thousand years old. Everything here was made before the year zero!

Alice: I love all the ancient jewellery. The earrings are made of glass. There aren't necklaces or earrings like this today.

Martin: Over here there is a beautiful statue made of stone. It has a description of the history of the Roman Forum in Italy. All of this is wonderful, isn't it?

Lisa: Wow! There are ancient pots here that the Romans used to cook food. You can't find pots and bowls like this today, can you?

Everyone concentrated on the things that interested them. Dad studied the metal coins, Alice took photos of the beautiful bracelets, Martin read the description of the statues made of stone, and Lisa looked at the pots and ancient utensils made of stone.

When they finished, they looked up and didn't see their family. There were so many people at the museum because it's very famous. They had to find each other!

Alice thought: I'll go to the exit and wait there. That's a good idea, isn't it?

Lisa thought: There must be somewhere I can go. Oh! To the exit.

Dad thought: Everyone will probably go to the exit. I'll go there.

Dad, Alice, and Lisa arrived to the exit and saw each other. But wait, where was Martin? Everyone looked at each other and thought, THE STATUES!
